Intelligence Report — Original Picks (Other Chat)

This was the first full research pass run on the May 4 slate, producing a 3-play final card with estimated true probabilities and explicit edge calculations.

Final Card

TIER	PLAY	BOOK/ODDS	TRUE PROB	EDGE	RESULT
A	Aaron Judge Anytime HR vs Shane Baz — NYY	+210 FD	~37%	+4.7%	HIT
A	Aaron Judge Over 1.5 Total Bases vs Baz — NYY	<-120	~65%	Safer entry	HIT
B	Seiya Suzuki Anytime HR vs Chase Petty — CHC	~+300	~30%	+5.0%	HIT
COND	Yordan Alvarez HR — Hold pending HOU SP confirm	+300	TBD	Pending	LOSS

Research Notes

Judge vs Baz (+210): Wind blowing OUT to LF at Yankee Stadium. Baz 4.11 xERA. Judge 27.5% barrel rate, 4 HR in last 7 games. All model layers aligned — cleanest play on slate.

Suzuki vs Petty (~+300): Classic Wrigley wind game (12-17 mph OUT). Chase Petty MLB debut arm — xERA 11.07 in brief MLB stint. Suzuki on 5-HR-in-11-game heater. Wrigley environment = major amplifier.

Coors Field — ALL DEAD: Wind blowing IN from CF plus storm threat. All props flagged dead. Game ultimately moved up 3 hours to 5:40 PM due to weather. Mark Vientos cited as power threat but NOT a play.

Gunnar Henderson — PASS: Negative EV flagged. Wind at Yankee Stadium hurts LHH. Cam Schlichtler elite (1.51 ERA, 0.74 WHIP). Hard pass.

Alvarez Conditional — LOSS: Held pending HOU SP confirmation. Okert (LHP) confirmed opener. Alvarez (RHH) faces Yamamoto (RHP) = good platoon split — upgraded to B- live play. Yamamoto 8 K. Alvarez 2 hits, no HR.

v1 Error Log / Missing Data

- HRTargets — Could not access today's HR board. Only methodology page surfaced, not verified player board.
- Ballpark Pal — Direct fetch returned 403. Used search snippet (3.75 HR projection Reds-Cubs) as unauditale reference.
- Weather conflict — Covers weather page vs HR article showed different Wrigley wind data. Needed near-first-pitch check.
- TB/Hits odds — Public odds tables incomplete. No final TB/hits bets issued under EchoIQ discipline.

Key Misses & Surprises

TYPE	SUBJECT	DETAIL
SURPRISE HRS	Drake Baldwin + Austin Riley (ATL)	Not in HRTargets top 3 vs Gilbert. Both homered. Model found Olson+Albies but missed 2 of 4 Braves HR hitters.
MODEL WHIFF	Kyle Leahy — VulnScore 50	Flagged as prime HR target. Pitched 5.1 IP 1 ER, 5 K. Contreras 0 HR. Biggest model failure of the night.
UNMODELED EDGE	Jose Soriano (LAA) meltdown	VulnScore 14 = "elite, avoid props." Gave up 5 ER in 4 IP; Murakami 429 ft. Completely missed exploitable spot.

MODEL WIN	Oracle Park suppression	McDonald VulnScore 8 + Oracle 0.71 = DEAD correctly called. 7 IP 2 H debut. Only 1 HR in full game.
CSV WIN	Holton not Skubal — DET	HRTargets CSV listed Holton (not Skubal) as DET starter before the public knew. Highest source-validation of the night.

No-Bet Discipline Verdict

Largely validated. EchoIQ v1 issued no full bet card — citing HRTargets inaccessibility and incomplete odds. The two late-slate winning plays (Suzuki, Bleday) were explicitly in the deck at appropriate sizing — B-tier and 0.25u lottery. The two losses (Alvarez +300, Busch +378) were both hedged with "no confirmed edge / conditional only." The biggest failure (Leahy/Contreras +650) would have cost money — caution was justified. The EchoIQ Intelligence Report (other chat) was less hedged — correctly stamping Judge A-tier (+210) and Suzuki B-tier (~+300) with true probability estimates. Both were right. That report was not over-hedged where v1 was.

Final Narrative

EchoIQ's disciplined approach was largely vindicated. The highest-VulnScore accessible pitcher (Leahy, 50) turned in a quality-start-adjacent performance, and the top conditional late-slate HR target (Busch) never homered while a pinch-hitter won the game. The two plays that paid — Suzuki's 455-foot missile at 112.6 mph EV and Bleday's lottery homer at Wrigley — were both explicitly in the deck at correct sizing. The system flagged every data gap, correctly called Oracle Park suppression and Wrigley wind amplification, and the HRTargets CSV validation (Holton/Skubal) was the night's most impressive data point. A short, disciplined card outperformed what a bloated 10-play sheet would have delivered given the Leahy, Alvarez, and Coors misses that would have dragged ROI negative.
